

Christopher R. Clark

Associate

Christopher R. Clark, an attorney with the firm, advises the firm's clients on a variety of issues related to telecommunications policy and regulation.

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Clark worked on telecommunications, media, and Internet issues with the Communications & Technology subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, & Transportation.

During law school, Mr. Clark served as an editor for the Harvard Journal of Law & Technology and the Harvard Journal of Sports & Entertainment Law. His experience also includes a public sector internship with the FCC Office of Strategic Planning & Policy Analysis and private sector internships with non-profit organizations, where he worked on intellectual property issues.

ACTIVITIES AND RECOGNITION

Member, Federal Communications Bar Association

Member, American Bar Association

CONTACT

WASHINGTON DC
E cclark@wbklaw.com
P 202.783.4141
F 202.783.5851
Outlook vCard

BAR ADMISSIONS

Maryland, 2010

EDUCATION

J.D., Harvard Law School, 2010
B.Mus. summa cum laude, University of Georgia, 2006

PRACTICE AREAS

Communications & Video Accessibility
Media Content & Distribution
Tower Siting & Infrastructure
Wired Communications
Wireless Communications