

Joshua M. Bercu

Associate

Joshua M. Bercu, an attorney with the firm, advises clients on various regulatory and policy matters related to telecommunications and data privacy. His recent work includes spectrum policy, online consumer privacy, accessibility of video programming and next generation 911 emergency services, and telecommunications relay service issues.

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Bercu worked with the House Energy & Commerce Committee on telecommunications and technology issues.

During law school, Mr. Bercu was a member of the Georgetown Journal of Law & Public Policy and served as the Vice President in charge of Media and Communications Law for GEMALaw, a division of the Georgetown Entertainment & Media Alliance. His experience also includes public sector internships with the FCC Wireless Bureau Spectrum & Competition Policy Division, the FCC Enforcement Bureau Investigations & Hearings Division, and private sector firm positions with a large law firm's Internet, Communications & Data Protection Group and a small firm handling media and broadcast issues. Mr. Bercu also worked as a research assistant on First Amendment and Media Law for the Institute for Public Representation.

ACTIVITIES AND RECOGNITION

Member, Federal Communications Bar Association

CONTACT

WASHINGTON DC
E jbercu@wbklaw.com
P 202.383.3425
F 202.783.5851
Outlook vCard

BAR ADMISSIONS

Virginia, 2010
District of Columbia, 2011

EDUCATION

J.D., Georgetown University Law Center, 2010
B.A., Harvard University, 2007

PRACTICE AREAS

Communications & Video Accessibility
FTC & Consumer Protection
Media Content & Distribution
Privacy, Data Protection & Cybersecurity
Wired Communications
Wireless Communications