Alex helps clients succeed by bringing a collaborative and goal-oriented approach to their business needs. Alex focuses on aerospace, technology, and communications sectors and represents a wide range of companies and investors in financings, mergers and acquisitions, technology and commercial transactions, securities, and corporate governance. Alex also has experience representing banks, food and beverage companies, homebuilders, and construction companies.

While in law school, Alex was a student attorney for the University of Denver's Community Economic Development Clinic. In that role, he helped represent nonprofit corporations, community-based associations and enterprises, small businesses, and artists. He drafted entity formation documents, drafted and negotiated contracts, and assisted in providing general counsel to nonprofit corporations and small businesses. He also assisted on intellectual property issues and real estate transactions. Prior to law school, Alex was a commissioned officer in the United States Air Force 3d Space Operations Squadron, a Staff Assistant in the United States Senate, and staff at CU Boulder's Research and Innovation Office.
